

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to selection systems for the identification, by functional analysis, of cell proliferation genes that are involved in viral growth and viral
5 disease. The invention also includes methods for identifying perturbagens and cellular targets that are involved in viral growth and viral disease.

10

15

20

25

30